Dear Bob:

Thanks very much for your kind invitation to address the 1988 Hamilton County Republican Dinner in February or March.

I would be delighted to join you for this special occasion, but my scheduling constraints will not permit me to accept. Nevertheless, please extend my warm best wishes to my fellow Ohio Republicans for a most enjoyable event.

Hope the new year is going well for you. Warmest regards.

Dear Mrs. Lupien and Muffin:

Thank you for your Christmas card and the delightful article. It was a pleasure to reminisce.

I appreciate your support, but I have no regrets about not running for office this year. I'm happy to serve President Reagan as he completes his term.

Your words of encouragement mean a great deal to me. Please accept my warm best wishes.

Dear Jim:

Thanks for your December 17 letter requesting selection of Castle Heights for a new FBI training academy.

Although I appreciate your interest, I have been advised that, as a matter of White House policy, I cannot intervene in pending procurement decisions. I know you can appreciate the ethical considerations which underlie this policy. However, you may wish to contact the Department of Justice directly to voice your concerns.

It was good to hear from you. Warm regards.

On behalf of Senator Baker, I want to thank you for your letter. He was pleased to learn about your studies.

Although we appreciate your interest, I must tell you that there are no internships available in the Office of the Chief of Staff. However, I'm bringing your correspondence and resume to the attention of the White House Greetings and Comments Office, who take a limited number of Summer interns. Please be assured your request will receive every consideration. You might also try contacting your Congressional Representative and Senators directly about opportunities which are available in their individual offices.

Dear Colby:

Thanks for sending along the White Paper on deficit reduction that you prepared for the President. As the President said when he recently signed the legislation embodying much of the budget agreement he reached with Congress, it is a good first installment but more needs to be done.

I must tell you, however, that I am not sanguine about accomplishing this year some of what you advocate. Freezing all COLAs or enacting a major new tax is highly unlikely in an election year. If I am right in my assessment, it may be counterproductive to strongly advocate such policies as it will force Presidential candidates to take unequivocal positions and reduce their options after the election.

However, we will continue to look for opportunities and pursue policies that keep us on the right path. As circumstances permit, we will make every effort to build on the current budget package.

Warm regards.

Thank you for your letter of December 3 concerning the tax bill provisions affecting merger and acquisitions. I took the liberty of passing your comments on to Secretary Baker, who was our principal representative on the tax bill. Dear Ned:

I appreciate your expression of willingness to serve on the National Economic Commission. Bill Schreyer has also endorsed your appointment. You are obviously well-qualified and would surely be one of our top candidates.

I must tell you, however, that I remain concerned about the formulation of this Commission. First, the President received only two appointments, while the Congress has ten. Second, the Chairman is elected by the Commission rather than being appointed. I worry that the political process inside the Commission in selecting a Chairman may be damaging.

Finally, I am apprehensive about any commission on the budget convening proceedings in an election year. Their deliberations could become campaign issues and affect the outcome of the election. Equally important, the candidates may be pressured to deny or endorse Commission recommendations, limiting their options after the election and potentially making the process counter-productive. If, for example, the Commission recommended a COLA freeze, including Social Security, some of the candidates may feel compelled to promise never to sign such legislation.

I continue to believe that a commission, properly constituted, could make a contribution in our efforts to reduce the deficit. I am not convinced, however, that this formulation at this time will produce a workable result. We are therefore considering what options we might pursue, including an attempt to negotiate more Presidential participation, Presidential designation of the Chairman, and convening after the election. For the moment, let me assure you that you will be on any "short list" we compile when the time comes for the President to make his appointments.

Warm regards.

Dear Ed:

Your letter of January 13, 1988 on the Board for International Broadcasting budget was most appreciated. The BIB plays a crucial role and the case for a Supplemental was eloquently made by Bruce Porter at the Budget Review Board meeting.

We chose not to go the Supplemental route at this time because to do so could breach the hard fought budget agreement with the Congress we reached last year. The agreement contemplated that no Supplements would be requested except in cases of "dire emergency". There may be solutions short of a Supplemental such as expanded authority to reprogram current appropriations. The BRB instructed OMB and the BIB to explore those alternatives. Failing that, you can be assured that when a dire emergency exists (you suggest August) we will certainly give every consideration well in advance to a Supplemental.

Dear Dave:

Despite the eleventh hour activities on the Hill, I hope you and your family had some time to enjoy the holiday season. And I hope you will share with them my personal wishes for a happy and healthy New Year.

Dave, I want to thank you for your help on the issue of assistance to the Democratic Resistance in Nicaragua. Your advice and assistance were critical to the successful resolution of this matter before adjournment, and consistent with the leadership you have demonstrated in earlier debates on this issue.

I understand that you had a successful trip to Nicaragua, and I am glad you were able to get down there personally. As you know, this whole matter will be the subject of further congressional action in early February. We continue to have daily discussions on this issue, and the President remains committed to a just and lasting peace in the region. As we pursue the achievement of democracy in Nicaragua and security for all of Central America, your continued efforts will be invaluable. I look forward to working with you, and I welcome your counsel.
